
THE ENERGY OF NUMBERS

– Monika Muranyi

Numerology is the science of numbers, and there are many different forms of numerology on the planet today. Some of these include the Kabbalah (developed from the Hebrew alphabet), Chaldean Numerology (developed in Ancient Babylon), and Pythagorean (created by Greek Philosopher Pythagoras). These examples demonstrate that numerology is ancient. The science of numerology is essentially all about the energy of numbers. How can a number have energy? Numbers are simply numbers, right? The answer is complex, but if you're interested, let's learn the basics.

Before we discuss the energy of numbers, let's define what is meant by the word energy. The term energy, as used within this article, refers to something we can sense or feel around anything. It doesn't have to be physical either. It can simply be the energy around a situation, such as drama, love, sorrow, or grief. There is energy around Human situations and compassion, and we are "tuned to it" and react. Those who are more sensitive to energy than others are more likely to be open to the concept that numbers have energetic messages. There are many who don't believe such a thing could ever be possible, and they are right for their own truth. That is the free choice that each of us has to believe in whatever we wish. Therefore those who don't believe it, simply won't see it or be able to use it. However, it is ancient knowledge.

Now, what about the rest of us who do believe such things are possible? Okay, let's reframe the earlier statement. If you don't believe numbers have energy, and that any of systems of numerology are real, then it won't be in your reality to observe it or work with it. It will not be part of your every day life or your truth. Those who have black and white sight don't believe in color, but the world is still in color. What about you? Are you open to the idea that numerology could be real? Is there more to numbers than what we may have been told?

The simplest numerology to describe is a system of defining the numbers one through nine. I prefer to use the simple and basic definitions as given by Kryon, an angelic entity channelled by Lee Carroll. The basis for these definitions correlates to the system of numerology used by the ancient Tibetans.

Number One: This number is all about new beginnings. It could be referring to rewriting or reframing something, the beginning of something, basically anything that is new.

Number Two: If you have two of something, it means one or the other. Two is therefore all about duality and it responds to free choice. When you get a number two around something, it tells you there will be decisions to make. It also describes the very attribute of Human duality.

Number Three: Number three is a catalytic number. A catalyst is an energy that changes other things without changing itself.

Number Four: Four is all about the Earth energy, our physical world, and the consciousness of our planet, known as GAIA.

Number Five: Represents change, and means that the energy of the situation, or place, or year, is about change.

Number Six: This number is difficult to explain, but it's a spiritual number. So the energy of the six is all about harmony. Other aspects of this number associated with harmony are balance, love and communication.

Number Seven: Seven means spirituality, and it is also associated with the energy of divinity. Take a look at the many organized belief systems on the planet and you will find numerous examples of the spiritual significance that the number seven has.

Number Eight: Nearly everyone's favorite number is eight, because it's all about manifestation and abundance. It enables the creation, manifestation and abundance of things such as health, long life, prosperity, loving relationships and so much more.

Number Nine: Nine is all about completion. However, completion can mean many things. It can mean the end of something, a graduation, the end of sorrow, the end of a paradigm, or simply the end of a certain way of thinking.

We now have the simplest and most basic definitions for the numbers one through nine. In general, when you have several numbers together, you add them up to get one number. For example, if you live at 431 Prince Street, you would add four and three and one, which gives you an eight. So the address for this place is all about manifestation and abundance! However, there is one exception to consider when adding several numbers together. The exception is when you have two identical numbers. These numbers are considered master numbers and have energies of their own. For example, 11 is illumination; 22 is a strong duality; and 33 is all about compassionate action. The rest of the master numbers 44 to 99 currently have no definitions. The reason? According to ancient Tibetan teaching, humanity isn't ready yet to understand the meanings. Possibly they represent a consciousness we have not seen yet.

Okay, back to the basic discussion of simple numerology. Using the definitions and meanings of the numbers one to nine (as given above), let's have some fun! Remember the previous address we used in the example above? We can also look at the numerology of the street name. This requires assigning a number to every letter in the alphabet, with A being one, B being two, C being three, etc. If we add up the numeric values of the name PRINCE you get 65. We then have to add six and five together and it gives us 11. Instead of adding one and one together, we apply the exception to the rule because it's a master number. The master number of 11 is Illumination! Wow, what a fantastic address to have!

Why not do some experiments in your own life? How about finding out what the numerology of your name has to say about you? Here is what the numerology says about a few celebrities: Oprah Winfrey is FIVE, Steven Spielberg is SEVEN, and Steve Jobs is a NINE. What do you think? Do you think Oprah has created change on the planet? Do any of the movies created by Steven Spielberg have spiritual themes or show the divinity of humans? Did Steve Jobs life bring about a completion of a system or paradigm? Examining the numerology is not only fun but it paints a picture of what is going on around a situation, person, place, or event!

Are there any examples of this? YES! Remember the 33 Miners Rescue in Chile, back in 2010? This event was filled with 33's in numerology everywhere! The earthquake that caused the mine to collapse was originally reported to have started at 3.33am, and went for 3 minutes. There were 3 plans with 3 drills to try and reach the miners. It took 33 days of drilling to reach them. The miners sent a note to the rescuer, taped onto the drill, which had a total of 33 characters and spaces combined. The date of discovery by the drillers was the 33rd week of that year. The rescue operation lasted almost 24 hours with the last miner reaching the surface at exactly 33 minutes past midnight.

All these 33's! A mere coincidence, or, did the planet demonstrate the qualities of the master number 33, with compassionate action? The answer is for you to decide. Sometimes there is more than coincidence when it comes to numbers that repeat or are seen often together. What about the 11:11 that many saw again and again for over two decades? Perhaps it's time to consider there is more to the energy of numbers than what we may have originally thought.
