
THE ENERGY OF GAIA

– Monika Muranyi

The natural history of our Earth is well published, but could there be more information about how our planet evolved than what we've been told? Why we are here, and what does our planet, also known as Gaia, have to do with our existence? Have you ever felt energy within the Earth? What about portals? Why do hauntings occur, and are they related to the energy of Gaia? The answers to these questions revealed in the information below, demonstrate that Gaia's Earth energies interface with humanity in a surprising and astonishing way.

Everything in the universe is made up of energy. In most instances, energy is difficult to see, yet we know it exists. We don't have any difficulty feeling physical energy, such as heat from a fire, but there are far more energies than this. Have you ever entered a room with people and felt "the energy within the room?" The sensation of feeling this energy has been described as a "vibe," an abbreviation of vibration. Most likely you have heard someone talk about a place that has good or bad vibes.

Many of us also feel or sense energy from other people. In basic terms, your emotional state of being radiates out as vibrations and frequencies that others sense or feel. Do you ever remember meeting a stranger, and how good you felt in his or her company? Our ability to sense and feel the energy around us is an innate wisdom that we all possess. We all have what is called intuition, often described as a "gut" feeling. Some individuals are more sensitive to feeling energy than others, but this ability can be strengthened and developed over time with practice.

Our planet Earth, Gaia, has a life-force. Gaia has a tremendous amount of energy, such as wind and rain, which we experience on a daily basis. But Gaia has other kinds of energies that many cannot see, and most of us are not even aware of. These energies are what I wish to tell you about.

According to Kryon, an entity channelled by Lee Carroll, Gaia has three main energy grids. They are the Magnetic Grid, the Gaia Grid and the Crystalline Grid. These three energy grids of Gaia are in a state of entanglement with us. They all work together in a soup of energy that is a benevolent system of Human support. That means that everything we do is "known" by Gaia.

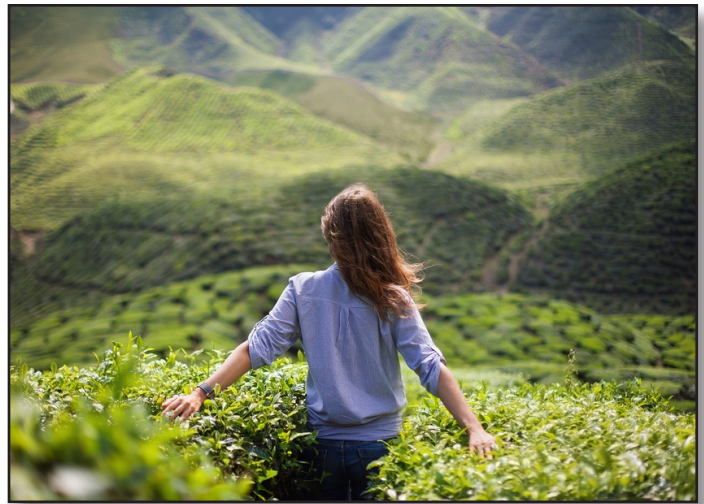

The Magnetic Grid is easily seen and measured at a physical level, but it is also responsible esoterically for being in an "entangled state" with Human consciousness. Researchers discovered that the Earth's magnetic field becomes stronger and weaker with profound events of humanity. An example is the 9/11 terrorist attack in New York. The very hour the airplanes hit the towers, the magnetic grid's strength changed dramatically.* Kryon says that the magnetic grid is "the vehicle of transference of information to our DNA." You can measure the magnetic grid's changes with a compass, but the other grids are not as obvious.

The Gaia Grid and the Crystalline Grid are invisible, yet many animals and humans have a conscious awareness of them. The Gaia Grid can be defined as the life-force of the planet. We see and feel this life-force in the plants and animals around us, especially our pets. Gaia's life-force has a personality and is the only one of the three grids that has sentience. This means we are more apt to feel and identify ourselves emotionally with it than we are with the others.

The Crystalline Grid, however, is extremely esoteric and a lot more difficult to explain. It records and remembers Human action and emotion. The Crystalline Grid is therefore a spiritual grid that lays over the planet's surface and remembers everything we do and where we do it within the specific location that it occurred.

Human activity and vibration directly affects the Crystalline Grid and vice versa. It is responsible for why some humans can walk onto that battlefield, which is now a beautiful grassy meadow, and feel the horror and death of the many warriors who died there. This is energy!

The Crystalline Grid also helps to explain some hauntings. The energy attributes of a dramatic Human emotion and activity is imprinted on the Crystalline Grid and these imprints are sometimes seen and felt by others. Hauntings, often believed to be paranormal activity, are often simply an energy recording on the Crystalline Grid, which repeats over and over. Those who measure "haunted areas" detect changes in magnetics, gravitation, light and even time – all of which are multi-dimensional (and invisible) energy, and very real.

In certain places on Earth there are special overlapping energies between the three grids which create attributes of the land that humans can sense. There are two distinct ways that overlaps occur. The first specific overlap creates an amplification of the Crystalline Grid, and can be described as an energy node of Gaia. The second specific overlap cancels and voids the Crystalline Grid and can be described as an energy null of Gaia.

The energy nodes of Gaia are places of immense intensity, often in areas that are less accessible or desirable for human habitation. The indigenous of the Earth often built temples in these remote places. For "remembering" Human consciousness. One example of how the Crystalline Grid "records" energetic attributes is the site of a battlefield. In parts of Europe there are places that contain a long, repeated history of war after war. The energy of what occurred on any battlefield is recorded as an energetic imprint. This is many people, these places are called “power spots” or “sacred sites.” The energy nulls of Gaia are places that also feel wonderful, but it’s too overwhelming to be in them for long periods. They represent pure Gaia energy, and are harder to live in. Nulls have odd magnetic field characteristics, making it difficult for life-force and balanced brain-synapse. The places on Earth where nulls exist are often uninhabited for that reason.

In physics, everything comes in pairs. This means that for every node on the planet there is a corresponding null. Each polarised pair (a node and null together) has a push-pull energy created by the three overlapping grids. What does this mean? Think of nodes and nulls working together, pushing new energy into the planet. Nodes are slowly taking away the things that are no longer needed by humanity such as fear, war, and drama. Nulls are depositories of cosmic energy, where new information, ideas and invention are slowly being pushed to humanity.

These pairs of nodes and nulls work together and modify the “remembrance” factor of the Crystalline Grid. The result is that in this new energy, there will be less remembrance of hatred and drama, and more remembrance of love and compassion. Humanity is on the cusp for new inventions and information that will redefine our understanding of biology and physics. Perhaps the next time you are immersed in nature you may wish to thank Gaia for the amazing energy she shares with us in these miraculous times as we collectively birth peace on Earth.

* The Global Coherence Initiative measured instant changes in the magnetic grid during the 9/11 event using two National Oceanic Atmospheric Administration weather stations.

www.glcoherence.org/monitoring-system/about-system.html

